Superintendent's Message

What we have done for ourselves alone, dies with us; what we have done for others and the world, remains and is immortal.

Principal's Message

To the Class of 1960

Your yearbook is an interesting example of the expression of your original ideas enriched with pages of memories of your most memorable experiences in high school.

Dedication

For your guidance, assistance, and sincere interest in us, we the class of '60 wish to dedicate our yearbook to you, Mr.
Menkens. In the past four years you have taken an unceasing interest in us, both as a class and individuals. Long after we leave, we will remember you and all you've done for us.

CLASS POEM

If success is a mountain, wisdom is the path.
The first trail has been long; the ascent, steep.
Now that we have reached our first plateau
Wiser are we, yet we know how little we know.

Teachers and parents have helped all the way.
Now on to new heights, new friends, new faces,
But we shall take memories of friends and places
And leave to our teachers our undying thanks.

Onward and upward we shall go, never turning back.
Higher and higher for the crest we shall aspire.
Though the climbing be rough, the pathway narrow,
With the help we have received we will reach the summit.

- Melvin Rhodes

CLASS MOTTO

Slow are the steps to wisdom
But they never turn back.

CLASS SONG

Tune: GOD BLESS AMERICA

Our high school memories, now fleeting by
We remember and cherish all the things
We have done in the past.
From the tests to the parties, to the dances,
that we've had
Our high school memories will last and last
Our high school memories will last and last.

Now we are reaching for goals unknown
We will all go our separate ways to find success of our own.
We are sad as we go, but still we all know
Our high school memories will last and last
Our high school memories will last and last.

Soon you'll forget us, and what we've done
Now it's all over, and we have had all our fun.
We are sorry we are leaving
We are sorry we must go,
We'll come another time to Bristol High
We'll come another time to Bristol High.

- Gloria Brown, Sheila Sullivan

As we, the Class of '60, are fast approaching our graduation, we would like to open our scrapbook of memories and look over the souvenirs of our past.

The first page is dated September, 1948. We see a group of industrious first graders, including James Kendall, Tom Perkins, Vernie Rockwell, Sheila Sullivan, Gary Wheelock, Ronald Williamson, Peter Wisell, Harlene Smith, Brenda Brown, Marie Burke, Robert Clark, Mary Maranville, William Norton, Gail Perlee, James Perlee learning their a b c's under the guidance of Mrs. Jackman and Mrs. Hannon.

As we turn the page, we see a mental picture of the toy village we made in the second grade. We remember the important event of this year as our class picnic at Kilbourn's farm under faithful leadership of our teachers, Mrs. Marshall and Mrs. Carpenter. This year four new members of the Class of '60 joined us. They were Charlene Prime, Peter Ryan, Terry Thomas, and Gloria Brown.

We have one vivid impression of our third year. This is a picture of Bill Norton looking very ill on our visit to the Fleming Museum and the Maltex Company. The highlight of the trip was the ride we took on a grain elevator at the Maltex Company, under the watchful eyes of our teachers, Miss O'Connor and Mrs. Orvis.

On the fourth page we find one of the Vermont notebooks we made this year, with the help of our teacher, Mrs. Trombley. Virginia Lord and Marielana Tierney arrived to help us with our notebooks.

On the page of our scrapbook of memories devoted to the fifth grade are some images of our dinner banquet. Ice cream, cake, and soft drinks were the hit of the party. By this time we had a good start on an education, and our knowledge grew even more under the direction of our teacher, Mrs. Gregory.

Because we did so much our sixth year we had to use two pages. The year both started and ended with a bang under the leadership of our ambitious and fun-loving teacher, Mrs. Hutchins. This year we had our last Halloween and Valentine Party. Our new arrival, James LaDeau, was married to Sheila Sullivan by the process of jumping over the broomstick. The year ended with a trip to Branbury Beach.

Our memories of the seventh grade consist chiefly of many new experiences we had, such as passing classes, new subjects, and no recesses. Mrs. Whitcomb introduced us to a new member this year, Dale Fournier.

History

On the eighth page we find the girls and boys divided, with the girls in the Home Ec room, and the boys in the eighth grade room under Mr. Andrews.

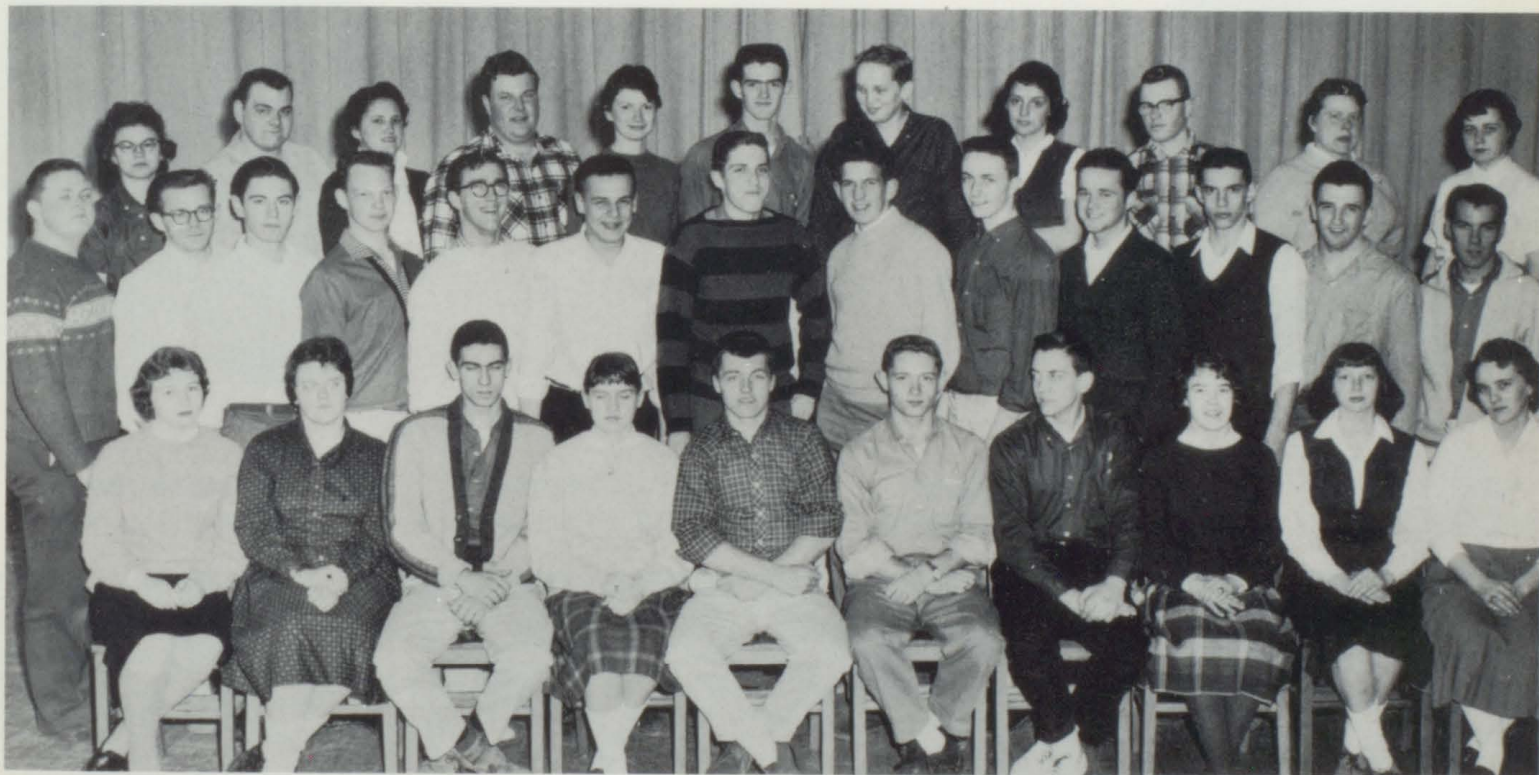

The next page is labeled "Freshmen." Doug Orvis, Eddie Cloe, Pat Gardner, Bob Noble, Melvin Rhodes, Alan Phelps, and Rodney Dushaney strengthened the forces of the Class of '60 for the dreaded initiation. We bowed to the will of the "honorable" Seniors for a week. This week ended in day of ridiculous stunts and unforgettable costumes. Our class president, Dale Fournier, and our two advisors, Mr. Drabble and Mr. Menkens, attended the Freshman Reception in our honor that evening.

The important event of the Sophomore year was the arrival of our class rings. Such money making projects as dances, food sales, and a raffle were presided over by our class president, Terry Thomas. Our supervisors this year were Mr. Menkens and Mr. Brasure.

For our Junior year we have numerous pictures of our prom. The theme, Harbor Lights, was depicted by fish nets, a waterfront cafe, and a huge painting of a lighthouse. The highlight of the Prom was a three-dimensional, pink and white clam shell, which opened to disclose the King and Queen. Our class president, Peter Ryan, and our class advisors, Mr. Menkens and Mr. Roberts, welcomed four new members. They were Delores Lathrop, Basil Corliss, Harry Murphy, and Dick Savoy.

The Senior page discloses us as distinguished young ladies and gentlemen, dictating to the frightened Freshman for one whole week. The money making project for this year is selling refreshments at the newly opened ski tow. Class president this year is Peter Ryan, and our class advisors are Mr. Menkens and Miss McDonald.

We have come to the last page of our scrapbook of memories. Now we must stop looking into the past and start looking into the future. With this thought we close our book of memories.

Class of '60 Prophecy

Major Events of the 20th Century The Colonization of the Moon

Among the daring exploits of mankind the colonization of the moon must surely rank as the foremost.

The settlers were without exception a venturesome and courageous group. They were successful in spite of the many hardships which were encountered. They strove untiringly to establish the first outpost of civilization in outer space.

This colony was founded on June 15, 1960. It was named New Bristol. Although there is still doubt as to the source of this name, many authorities believe it to be originated from a small town in the Green Mountains of Vermont.

Its residents numbered 34. Their lives and occupations serve as an interesting record of life in the 20th century.

Among the most prominent members of the community were the Mayor, a certain Basil Corliss; Ronald Williamson, head of the Trans-Moon Airlines Co.; Gary Wheelock, real estate broker; Vernie Rockwell, prosperous merchant in the clothing industry; and Bill Norton, insurance actuary.

Other merchants included Virginia Lord and Charlene Prime, partners in a Beauty Salon; and Alan Phelps, owner of the Moon-Skid Ski Chalet.

Mary Maranville, Marielana Tierney, and Patricia Gardner were influential in the foundation of the universally well-known New Bristol Hospital, the staff of which included Delores Lathrop, medical secretary, and Marie Burke, author of the famous essays on "The Art of Nursing."

Records of the Board of Education of New Bristol show Gail Perlee to have been the head of the English Department of the local university. Dick Savoy and Peter Wisell were research scientists at the university.

Several recently discovered documents indicate New Bristol as the site of the first hotel in outer space. Harry Murphy and Dale Fournier were co-owners of the establishment. Those employed there included Brenda Brown, manager; Eddie Cloe, assistant manager; Jim Kendall and Bob Clark, accountants; Tom Perkins, cook; Rodney Dushaney, electrician; and Gloria Brown, secretary. The original building was designed by Jim LaDeau.

Doug Orvis and Terry Thomas, partners in a law firm, were New Bristolites who gained fame during the trial of Melvin Rhodes, the controversial writer, for his book, "The Inquisition of the Armadillo."

Pete Ryan, investigator for the Moon Treasury Department; Sheila Sullivan, Conductor of the Philharmonic Orchestra; Bob Noble, owner of a large dairy farm; Jim Perlee, an engineer; and Harlene Smith, a happily married housewife, were also listed as citizens.

By a remarkable coincidence, all the previously mentioned people were members of the Class of '60 of the High School in Bristol, Vermont.

Class Will

To the FACULTY OF B. H. S. we leave a class with as much drive and determination as the Class of '60.

To the JUNIOR CLASS we will our ability to get along with the faculty . . . they'll surely need it!

To the SOPHOMORE CLASS we will all our fun and parties!

To the FRESHMAN CLASS we will our ability to study hard.

Melvin Rhodes wills his desire to study to Peter Tomasi.

Peter Ryan wills his height and scoring ability to Mike Tierney.

Vernie Rockwell wills his ability to keep his hair combed to Gil Savoy.

Ed Cloe wills his interest in sports to Vilas Masterson.

Ronnie Williamson wills his skiing ability to Harold Masterson.

Peter Wisell wills his ability to drive small cars to Dick Page.

Harlene Smith leaves her ability to go steady to Joyce Masterson.

Jim La Deau wills to Lee Hoag his list of Port Henry phone numbers.

Terry Thomas wills his ability to play basketball to Chase Atkins.

Doug Orvis wills his interest in rabbits to Jimmy Booska.

Jim Perlee wills his ability to play soccer to Jack Cragen.

Tom Perkins wills his interest in school to Roger Kendall.

Charlene Prime leaves her title of "night hawk" to Mary Douglas.

Mary Maranville leaves her interest in Lincoln to Denny McDonough.

Marielana Tierney leaves her ability to get the man she wants and win over her parents' approval to Donna Tierney.

Gloria Brown leaves her ability to type to George Scribner.

Delores Lathrop leaves her ability to stick with one guy to Janice Rood.

Brenda Brown leaves her height to Jeff McDonough.

Sheila Sullivan leaves her musical ability to Alice Lavonche.

Rodney Dushaney wills his quietness to Charlie Cardell.

Bob Noble wills his ability in bookkeeping to James Cyr.

Bob Clark wills his whiskers to Danny Layn.

Basil Corliss wills his title of "Romeo" to Larry Lathrop.

Dale Fournier wills his tree house in South Lincoln to Pat Murphy.

Bill Norton wills the safe use of the Lincoln road to anyone while he is in college.

Harry Murphy wills his ability to stay broke to Roger Besaw.

Jim Kendall wills his ability to settle down and study to Chuck Weaver.

Alan Phelps wills his ability to get along with the girls to Glynn Cragen.

Dick Savoy wills "Appledumpling" to the Sophomore Class.

Pat Gardner leaves her temper to Alison Bristol.

Gary Wheelock wills his ability to stay home nights to Rodney Smith.

Marie Burke leaves her "giggles" to Patricia Brown.
